

Immagine Prodotto
Product Image

The image displays three views of a cylindrical metal component, likely a mechanical part or a decorative element. The component features a flange on one end and a small, vertical protrusion on the top surface. The views are arranged vertically, showing the component from different angles to highlight its design and finish.